Sackeena Gordon-Jones, Ph.D., MCC

Dr. Sackeena Gordon-Jones has a passion for evoking potential in others in service to humanity, and this singular purpose makes her a keynote speaker whose presence and message become a catalyzing power in igniting transformation from the stage.

Self-assured, steadfast, and solidly anchored in her identity in Christ, Sackeena creates a sacred, intimate ethos with her talks, often bringing complex ideas together effortlessly and harmoniously in an authentic, accessible, relatable way that invites the listener to lean in and connect to her message at a soul/spirit level.

As a keynote speaker, her presence is palpable, both what she speaks and her pregnant pauses which allow her words to land in all the right places. Because she cares so deeply about the untapped potential in others, she uses her intuitive insights to invite imagination, often adeptly weaving her love of poetry and music into her talks to allow her audiences to connect more deeply with their truths. It is this exceptional gift that distinguishes her from other speakers of her caliber.

As the founder of Transformation Edge Coaching & Consulting, and the Transformation and Business Coach Institutes, Sackeena is trained as a master certified coach, with a wealth of experience. She uses her strengths in strategic planning, leadership development, and cultural intelligence and has partnered with thousands of leaders, executives, and purpose-driven women to help them articulate their vision, lead more authentically, and live with greater harmony and fulfillment.

She harnesses her expertise and mastery as a leadership coach, consultant, mentor, and organizational strategist; her anointing as an agent of change, enlightenment, and elevation; and her love of transforming hearts and minds to their highest potential, to deliver keynote addresses that leave audiences awakened to new possibilities, liberated, and thereafter transformed.

Sackeena has served as a leader of the International Coach Federation (ICF) locally, regionally and globally. She also served as past director of the Association of Coach Training Organizations (ACTO). She currently serves on the editorial board of Choice Coaching Magazine.
